

Study at the University of Hradec Králové!

Meet the dynamic and youthful environment of the University of Hradec Králové – an institution founded in 1959 that has borne its name since the year 2000. More than 9,000 students of the university can choose from dozens of study programmes consisting of almost one hundred study disciplines.

The University of Hradec Králové is comprised of five units: Faculty of Education, Faculty of Informatics and Management, Philosophical Faculty, Faculty of Science and Institute of Social Work. Each year more than one hundred international students become part of an inspiring multicultural environment.

The University of Hradec Králové is located in a lively student city with beautiful architecture, two rivers, many parks and perfect conditions for cycling and swimming. Many theatre and music festivals are held here throughout the whole year. It is situated in the middle of Europe - only 110 kilometers east of Prague and one-hour drive from the mountains.

Enjoy the Czech Republic!

The Czech Republic is favorably situated at the centre of Europe, so it is very easy to get here from anywhere. No matter what kind of transport you choose, you will probably arrive in Prague first. Hradec Králové lies only about 100 kilometers eastwards, so getting to this city from the capital (airport, train or bus stations) never takes longer than two hours.

Rokitanského 62
500 03 Hradec Králové
Czech Republic
ff.uhk.cz

University of Hradec Králové
Philosophical Faculty

A stylized white outline map of Europe is set against a green background. A white heart is placed over the Czech Republic. Several small white circles are scattered across the map, representing other European countries.

Are you into Central European Studies?

Study in the Czech Republic! Study in Hradec Králové!

Master's Programme: Central European Studies

The Philosophical Faculty of the University of Hradec Králové offers Master's degree (Mgr.) which may be pursued in full-time study. The M.A. degree programme is designed for students who have obtained a Bachelor's degree. The study is designed as a multipisciplinary overview of humanities and social sciences in which Central Europe is characterized in a broad context.

Our proposal in short

Masters programme: International Territorial Studies

Study field: Central European Studies

Duration: 2 years (4 semesters)

Language: English

Study mode: Full-time

Type of study: Follow-up masters

Next start: Every September

Location: Hradec Králové, Czech Republic

Price per semester: € 1.500

Scholarship: Available

What are Central European Studies about?

Students of Central European Studies will get detailed knowledge about wide range of facts connected with Central Europe, especially about modern history of this area, its politics, political systems (including transformation of Central European countries), culture and economics. Lectures of Czech, Polish or German language will be also a part of a study programme. Graduates will be able to analyze current social and political affairs in Central European countries. Their knowledge is an entrance ticket to different kinds of international organizations, both governmental and non-governmental, institutions of civil service, media or academic sphere.

What can you study?

Selected list of lectures and seminars:

- Modern History of Central Europe (1781 – 1914)
- Political Geography of Central Europe
- Cultural History of Central Europe
- Political Systems in Central European Countries
- Economic Transformation of Central Europe
- War in European History
- Czech, Polish, German Language

For more information contact:

Dr. Pavla Dočekalová

Vice-Dean for Study Affairs

pavla.docekalova@uhk.cz